Boosting Business.

An interesting plan for attracting the trade of farmers to a town, and obtaining a mailing list, was that exercised recently by a dealer who sold Ford cars.

He held what was known as "Ford Day." Everyone within many miles who drove a Ford car was asked to come to town that day and participate in the celebration.

Prizes were offered for the Ford carrying the most people—32 to be in on the winning car.

For the dirtiest Ford;
 For best decorated Ford;
 For the Ford with smallest license number;

For the Ford driven by a mother with greatest number of daughters in the car.

Prizes of merchandise were offered by local merchants.

The owner of a general store in town stated that he did a bigger business that day than he did in an entire week since he opened shop; and the local Ford agent sold a dozen Fords and obtained the names of 25 live "prospects," all with a small cost to each merchant.

Each person who drove a Ford and joined in the parade filled in a blank giving his name, address and other information for the merchants' mailing lists.

Stripping a Separator.

Some two weeks ago Mr R Hewson, of Burtonville, purchased in Edmonton a new separator to go threshing with this season, and had it delivered at Duffield station. It stayed there till Thursday last, when the owner gave it the once-over to see if everything was o. k. He was surprised to find that the machine had been stripped of a number of pulleys, sprockets and connections.

Officer Smith was immediately notified and proceeded to the scene. After some very clever detective work on the part of the officer, the missing articles were discovered cached near the edge of the town, and these were returned to the owner.

In the meantime Detective Kirby, the finger-print expert, had been summoned from Edmonton, and the fingerprints left by the thieves were examined and photographs taken.

The Police Dept. has sent out another notice, advising business men against the practice of leaving money unsecured in their places of business overnight.

At the meeting Saturday night of the steam threshermen the price agreed on for threshing was 5 and 6c for oats and barley, and 7c for wheat where the farmer supplies the fuel. Gas threshers will charge the same for oats and barley, and 8c for wheat.

The big rush farmers all over the province have been making to get their unfinished hogs to market owing to the rise in the price of grain, is having the looked-for result of lowering the price all round with the expectation that the price will drop further. Another result of the rush is the scarcity of stock cars, one local hog buyer having to carry over two loaded lots last week from Thursday to Saturday, the railway having on Thursday supplied but one car for the local buyers. The station agent has done better this week, four cars having been provided for this week's market.

The lecture in the Town Hall Sunday evening under the auspices of the Bible Students proved very interesting. The subject was "Modernism vs. Fundamentalism," and was handled in a clever manner by Mr F W Hobson. This was the last of the series in Stony, and all the meetings have been well attended. Meetings are held in Edmonton every Sunday evening by the City branch of the International Bible Students.

Public Life In Canada

Of all the activities in which men and women may engage, the rendering of service to one's fellowmen and country is surely the highest. Every citizen can, and should, render such service no matter how humble the station, but the higher the position and the greater the responsibility the more important it becomes that the services of the best men and women, those with experience and special qualifications for the discharge of the duties involved, be secured.

Devotion of one's life, talents and energies in public service to the country involves, in almost every instance, personal sacrifice. A man possessing the temperament and qualifications of a successful organizer and administrator can attain just as high honor in the estimation of his fellowmen, and reap far larger financial rewards, in private life and the business world than he can in public life and service. Most men occupying high office in public life in Canada today could easily command much larger salaries in professional and commercial life, and scores of others hesitate to enter public life because of the great personal and financial sacrifices which such a step would involve.

Yet it is of the utmost importance that Canada in its Federal Parliament, Government and Civil Service, and in its several Provinces, should obtain the benefit of the services of its most outstanding and best qualified citizens. The problems involved in framing legislation and in wise, economical and far-sighted administration call for their services.

Why is it that so many men of outstanding ability decline to enter public life, and why do so many men well qualified to fill responsible positions in the public service refuse to do so? There are various reasons, but among the outstanding ones two or three may be cited.

In private life such men are largely their own masters. They can develop their own initiative, carry out their own plans, reap the rewards of their own successes, and are not subject to red tape, the interference of contending political and sectional interests, and constant petty criticisms by political opponents, the press, and the public generally. To a high-spirited man of good intentions such freedom of action is precious. In private life he can and does get results; in public service his best efforts are all too frequently nullified and the success of his work placed in jeopardy.

In private life such men can command salaries commensurate with their abilities, services rendered and results achieved. But if a Government proposed to pay such men salaries of equal size to devote their abilities and energies in the public service, a hue and cry would be heard from one end of the country to the other, and these men would have their names and every act bandied about from mouth to mouth and in the press. Such men do not have to put up with these things and therefore fight shy of accepting public positions, and their valuable services are lost to the country and the positions filled with less able and qualified men, with the result that the country suffers. This is the reason why so many enterprises succeed under private management and fail under public ownership and management.

A third reason which applies more particularly to members of Parliament, Legislatures and Governments is the belittling of these men and their efforts and holding them before the public as objects of ridicule. For example, there are certain members of the Press Gallery at Ottawa, writing special articles for magazines and well-known papers whose sole business it seems to be to poke fun at and belittle the people's representatives in the House of Commons. Admittedly these writers have a splendid command of language, they know how to use adjectives and write in a snappy and altogether interesting manner. Their articles are readable and are widely read and discussed. But they are wholly destructive in character. There is nothing constructive about them, and if people, in addition to reading them, accept them at face value, the only conclusion that can be reached is that the leaders in the Government and of the Opposition are either a lot of ninnyes and ineptness or buffoons. Seldom is any member credited with sincerity or patriotic motives. If certain action is taken which meets these writers' approval, then some selfish and ulterior motive is credited with having been the inspiration of such action. The last thing these writers are willing to credit to the leaders in Canadian public life is a sincere desire to render public service.

Criticism of men in public life there must, and should be; it is desirable and healthy. But it should be fair. A man giving his life in public service welcomes fair, constructive criticism, but the style of articles which seem to find favor with the public today are unquestionably a deterrent to many good men who would otherwise gladly give their services, even at a sacrifice, in the public life of Canada.

As a first essential to raising the standard of public life and service in Canada there must be a change in the viewpoint of the average citizen towards those men and women who are devoting their lives in the work of the country.

Western Grown Corn
is Better Than Corn Coming From Illinois Grain Men Claimed
According to press dispatches from Vancouver, B.C., samples of Canadian corn were in the hands of some of the grain exporters there recently, not at a line for foreign shipment, but to show what Canadian prairie corn is like. According to the grain experts it is even better than that coming into this country from Illinois. When United States corn goes too high for this market, the practice has been to balance the trade by importing it from Manchuria, but local grain men stated recently that if the area of Canadian fields in corn continues to expand annually as it has done in the past ten years there will be little necessity in a few years for Canada to go outside for corn. In 1928 the three western prairie provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba produced corn crops amounting to 731,000 tons valued at $23,500,000.

Irrigation Increases Yields

In the first year of the operation of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation District some 30,000 acres have been under irrigation. In individual cases certain farmers irrigated as much as 200 acres. There are still 75,000 acres available for irrigation in this district.

Arrival in certain sections of Alberta has been practiced for many years and is found to increase the average production of grain crops and to be very helpful in the production of alfalfa, corn, sugarbeets, roots and vegetables.

Grooms Younger Than Brides.—Statistics just completed in Switzerland show that the bridegrooms, on an average, are younger than the brides. The study covers many thousands of cases, in 8,400 cases the bridegrooms being ten years and in 2,552 cases sixteen years younger than the girls they married. Several cases were reported of boys 25 to 30 marrying women 35 to 40 years old.

Broadcasting Motion Pictures

Test So Successful That Invention is To Be Perfected
Experiments demonstrating the practicability of broadcasting motion pictures wirelessly were disclosed at the Mark Strand Hotel, New York, by W. H. Marshall, Secretary of Colonel E. H. R. Green, of South Dartmouth, Mass.

Colonel Green, the son of Hettie Green, is a multimillionaire and the world's foremost amateur radio fan. He has been conducting the experiments for eighteen months in specially built laboratories on his estate near Buzzard's Bay.

President Samuel W. Stratton, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, attended a test at which a motion picture was transmitted sixty feet by wireless. He was so impressed that he detailed two experts from the institute staff to assist Colonel Green in the perfection of the invention.

Marshall said Colonel Green had established the practicability of the device for sending short distances and was confident that in another year he would have a set suitable for general broadcasting of movies even as music is broadcasted now.

The basis of the apparatus, he said, is similar to the device for transmitting still pictures through the air.

Corn Production An Interesting And Very Significant Feature Of Agricultural Progress

Corn has definitely taken its place as a fodder crop in Western Canada, and every year now confirms this. The establishment has been rapid. It is not many years since it was considered highly problematical that corn would ever be successfully grown in the prairie provinces. Upon the immediate successes of a few enthusiastic experimenters has been speedily developed an annual crop that is coming to rank with other important crops of the area, and in the need which has existed for long of a fodder crop in Western Canada the influence of the corn crop is being indirectly felt in many phases of agricultural progress.

In 1923 the three prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta produced corn crops amounting to 781,800 tons, worth $3,415,000, from 148,068 acres. In Manitoba, 32,223 acres produced at the rate of 7 tons per acre accounted for a production of 226,000 tons, which at an average price of $14.70 per ton was worth $3,322,000. In Saskatchewan, 61,812 acres at an average of 4.36 tons per acre, produced 269,800 tons, worth $5,252,000, or a total of $1,000,000. Alberta devoted 53,953 acres to corn culture which averaged 4.65 tons to an acre, or a total of 251,000 tons, worth $3,518,000 at the average price of $14.00 per ton.

This may not seem a very impressive aggregate except when read in a just appreciation of the remarkable development in this culture. Five years ago the production of corn in Western Canada was but in its infancy. Since 1915 the acreage devoted to corn in Western Canada has increased by 1,859 per cent, and the average production per acre from 2.63 tons to over 5.50 tons. Corn production has become a sufficiently established industry for Western Canada to hold corn shovels, and it is slowly effecting a general transformation in the nature of the landscape through the wide erection of silos on the farms of the area.

The present year is witnessing a greater stimulation than ever in corn production in Western Canada. It is estimated that 100,000 acres have been planted to this crop in the province of Saskatchewan and 100,000 acres in Southern Alberta. Taking these two provinces alone, a substantial increase in acreage is indicated, amounting to nearly fifty per cent. over the year 1922. There is every probability of Manitoba's recording a somewhat similar increase.

Such agricultural features as corn-growing associations and corn shows were undreamt of in Western Canada a few years ago. Associations for the promotion of corn growing have now banded together in mutual interest cultivators in the territories, were formed in Alberta and Saskatchewan in 1922. In 1923 the first corn show ever held in Western Canada took place at Prince Albert, at a several hundred miles north of the International Boundary. In the fall of the year the first official corn show of Saskatchewan was held at Maple Creek, which drew together five hundred exhibits and made altogether a very creditable showing. Now the first corn show of the province of Alberta has been set for November of the present year at Medicine Hat.

Corn production has probably been the most interesting and significant development of Western Canadian agricultural progress in the past decade. For years it was blindly accepted that the Western Canadian prairies would never produce corn, and that the line of production stopped definitely short of the International Boundary. Now corn is raised successfully at all points throughout the prairie provinces, and that raised as far as three hundred miles north of the border has been declared by Professor Chaplin, who comes from the heart of the corn belt in the United States, to be the superior of that raised in North Dakota.

The Dutch in Canada

Prove To Be Most Desirable and Thrifty Settlers in This Land Of Opportunity

A member of the staff of The Amsterdam "Telegraaf" has recently been in Western Canada taking notes for a number of newspapers in Holland of which he is the financial correspondent on this continent.

Speaking to a newspaperman in Montreal on his way back to New York, he said:

"I met a number of Dutch settlers in the neighborhood of Winnipeg and Calgary and found all of them well contented. I came across some farmers at Strathmore who had been there for the past eighteen years. They certainly offer a shining example in contrast with so many people who are only transient settlers, men who come into the country for two or three years, sell out and then move on again to some other part. As a matter of fact, the Dutch settler is usually most thorough. When he settles down it is his intention to make a home."

The story that this correspondent tells of the success and contentment of his fellow-countrymen located in the prairie provinces is about what anyone acquainted with the temperance of the Dutch people would expect.

The Dutch are about the most industrious and thrifty people in Europe. They number roughly 7,000,000 and inhabit a country some 12,500 square miles in area, or less than one-twentieth the size of Saskatchewan. At one time they contested the supremacy of the seas with Great Britain. They still possess the remnants of a colonial empire, but their attention in recent years has been centred on developing their own country. Shipping and many lines of manufacturing are engaged in on an extensive scale, as well as farming and dairying. The people are sober and law-abiding, and their thrift, industry and forebears will be found some of the greatest artists, scientists and scholars the modern world has produced.

The people with such traditions, who themselves are industrious and thrifty, are desirable settlers in this land of opportunity. They can be depended on to settle down and scratch hard and found homes for themselves, where more flighty temperaments would put up sticks and more go—Regina Post.

Alberta May Be Represented

May Put On A Display at Canadian National Exhibition Next Year

It is possible that Alberta will be represented at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto next year and all subsequent exhibitions by a permanent exhibit. Premier Greenfield favors such a move because of the publicity it would bring to the province, and he declares that the matter will be dealt with by the Government in due course. The display will feature coal, grain, dairy products, etc., and will be added to with new material each year.

All the provinces were invited by the management of the exhibition this year to take part in the big Toronto Fair by sending exhibits, which would be placed in one of the buildings on the fair grounds, and arranged in such a manner as to give a more truly national character to the display.

It was not found feasible by the Government to send an exhibit this year as the appropriation for publicity has been exhausted or is earmarked, but the question will be brought up when the estimates are being gone into for the 1925 expenditure—an appropriation will be made for the purpose.

Slightly Confused

The clergyman, absorbed in thinking out a sermon, rounded a turn in the path and bumped into a cow. He swept off his hat with a flourish, exclaiming: "I beg your pardon, madam."

Then he observed his error, and was annoyed. Soon, however, again engaged with thoughts of the sermon, he collided with a woman at another bend of the path.

"Get out of the way, you brute!" he said.

Growing Timothy Seed In Northern District

Conditions in Carrot River District Very Suitable For Experiment

Interesting work in the growing of timothy seed in the Carrot River district, that great stretch of country east of Prince Albert, has been undertaken by the Department of Agriculture of the province of Saskatchewan, co-operating with the University. Soil conditions and precipitation in that district make it particularly suitable for this experiment, which, if it turns out as is expected, will make a valuable crop for the farms and will work in well with their system of rotation.

Last year the experiment was started. Forty-five selected farmers each put in a plot of five acres. The experiment includes the testing out of the best mure crops, and best systems of seeding. This year there are some seventy-five plots under experiment. All of the farmers carrying on the work are members of the Saskatchewan Field Husbandry Association. Timothy has been successfully grown in the Carrot River country by several of the oldtimers, but no observations made. Now accurate data is being kept regarding the best mure crops, the precipitation, the bearing of seed and the effect of the native weeds. The plots are inspected each spring and fall by the director of co-operative experiments.

Last year, being an exceptionally good one for the seed, the best results were obtained. The best catches resulted from the use of barley, wheat and six-day oats. Where Victory and Banner oats were used, there was a tendency to smother out the timothy.

Professor Champin, of the University of Saskatchewan, directs the work, and the province finances it. He buys the seed, distributes it and provides the inspector. The demand for good timothy seed is so great and the States ensure that this will be a valuable crop if the final results are satisfactory. The experiment will be carried on over a period of three to five years.

Natural Resources Bulletin

Fur Trade Puts Into Pockets Of Trappers And Traders Millions Of Dollars Annually

The Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa says:

The demand for furs of all kinds puts into the pockets of trappers and fur traders millions of dollars annually. Until the trapping season, or what might be termed the harvest time in the fur trade, these furs have cost nothing.

It should not be forgotten that the natural and ordinary food of fur animals consists entirely of materials for which mankind has little or no use, and that certain of these animals render the farmer a positive service by ridding his orchards, fields and pastures of some of the worst pests infesting them.

The advance of settlement is driving the major fur-bearers farther back; improved methods of capture have greatly increased the takings of wild life, while the increased prices for furs since the war have multiplied the number of those who make trapping their main employment and of farmers and others who augment their income from this source.

The annual toll taken of wild life in Canada amounts to over four million animals. In the 1921-22 season the number was 4,366,780. Of these 3,060,528 were muskrats. Beaver account for 232,134, the next highest in point of numbers of any of the feline takes. White skunk was represented by 245,324, while skunk amounted to 123,242 pelts.

The draining of marsh lands is having a serious effect upon the supply of muskrat, while the number of uses being made of this fur is increasing. Fortunately the muskrat is a prolific species and its range is widespread. Fur-farming of many of the more popular fur animals is making advances, and with the demand increasing the domestic raising of muskrat, skunk, beaver, mink and others should be a commercial success.

A Turkey Pool

Pool For Marketing Dressed and Live Turkeys in Saskatchewan

Two new pools for the marketing of dressed and live turkeys in Saskatchewan are to be established immediately to give producers an opportunity of marketing their birds on a graded basis under the co-operative pooling plan.

Hon. C. M. Hamilton, Minister of Agriculture, in making the announcement, said the marketing and co-operation branch of his department, acting in conjunction with the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, has made arrangements for one pool to market dressed turkeys direct from country points and for a second pool to market live turkeys through the various killing stations of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited.

"An agreement" has just been concluded whereby the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited, will act as the marketing and selling agency," said Mr. Hamilton. "The creameries of Regina, Saskatoon, North Battleford, Melville, Yorkton, Weyburn and Melfort, each of which has cold storage facilities, will be used for properly chilling the birds before shipping."

"A. P. McLean, general manager of the co-operative creameries, will act as sales manager; for both pools with an advisory committee comprised of Mrs. John Holman, markets convener of the S.G.G.A., and W. Waldron, acting markets commissioner."

"We shall," added Mr. Hamilton, "in conjunction with the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, attend to all organization work in connection with the pools. In addition, inspectors from the department will provide demonstrations in killing and dressing for the poultry, where the producers desire to ship dressed birds. We also propose to hold a school of instruction in November for men who will be sent out to grade the various shipments. We expect, too, that it will be possible to make an advance on the cars shipped, but this is a point that will be decided by Mr. McLean and the committee."

Asked as to the possibilities of forming an egg pool along similar lines, Mr. Hamilton said the idea seemed quite feasible and that officers of his department would give consideration to the matter during the winter.

Damage From Insect Pests

Becoming a Serious Menace to Crops and Follage

Insect pests are a more serious menace to Saskatchewan's crops, annual forests and the shelter belts of trees and shrubs this year than at any other time since the war, as has been set up, according to data collected by the Provincial Department of Agriculture.

Forest tent caterpillars wrought havoc on the first foliage of trees during June in the Qu'Appelle valley and surrounding districts, as well as in other scattered localities all the way from Manitoba to the Peace River district.

Wheat crops have suffered from wire worms in many districts this year. On some of the older lands the damage is serious.

Cutworms are now found attacking flax and sweet clover, trimming the leaves and clipping the seed pods off the plants. Only two or three districts are apparently affected by this new menace, which appears to be dangerous and on the increase.

Wheat stem sawfly has done considerable damage in the southern part of Saskatchewan this year. Isolated fields have had upwards of 50 per cent. of the crop affected by the larvae, but the pest is not as general as it was last year.

Many species of plant aphids have clustered the twigs and leaves of domestic junipers and shrubbery, garden vegetables. Potato bugs have spread over most of the province. Except in a few small districts, where the damage was negligible, the grasshopper menace has passed.

Most things are governed by the law of supply and demand, but making mistakes isn't.

According to various agricultural authorities farm land prices in Canada are as low at the present time as they are ever likely to be. Since 1920, according to figures of the Census and Statistics Branch of the Dominion Government, land values in Western Canada have decreased by twenty-five per cent. This Government return takes the estimate only up to June, 1923. Since that time land values in the Dominion, according to popular estimate, have further declined; and these are probably now as low as in 1916, the year in which farm lands began their advance due to the high war prices received for farm products. Within the year, it is further estimated, with the anticipated adjustment of farm products and manufactured commodity prices, farm land values will again advance. The present year, therefore, is a particularly advantageous one for land purchase and settlement.

Taking Canada as a whole, the average value of farm land in Canada was at the time of the return back where it was in 1916, and since the peak reached in 1916 there has been a decline of 23 per cent. Advances made for a yet further decrease between June, 1923, and the present time. In Prince Edward Island the value is where it stood in 1919; in Nova Scotia in 1915; in New Brunswick 1919; in Quebec 1917; in Ontario 1918; in Manitoba 1916; in Saskatchewan 1915; in Alberta 1916; whilst in British Columbia one has to go back to 1910 to find the same low level of price.

Farm land values fluctuate with the prices obtainable for agricultural products, and when both are low in Canada it will usually be found that a similar situation obtains in other large agriculturally producing areas. The remarkable feature thus disclosed in a comparison is that farm land of such fertility and proven productive qualities can be obtained so reasonably; for it is to be borne in mind that the farm land prices quoted are in reference to areas at least partially under cultivation. Prices obtainable for most farm products in 1924 were the lowest reached for years and yet an acre of Alberta land worth on the average $14.40 now to what would have been an average of 23 bushels sold at 55c per bushel or $12.65, and to oats 50 bushels at 24c a bushel or $12.00. The same average acre of occupied farm land in Saskatchewan worth $24 now to oats returned 18.75 bushels worth 65c per bushel or a total of $12.32, or to corn 45.25 bushels at 25c per bushel or a total of $11.31.

Together with other features of the national life, farm land values are reflecting from the effects of war stimulation and post-war depression. The factor which will effect their rise in the future will be that which was accountable for a steady ascendancy in price before the war, the increase of settlement and the consequent diminution of available supply. Probably no country in its colonization history recorded such a rapid, steady and consistent rise in farm land values as Canada's record up to 1914 shows, which was merely the mirror of continuous settlement. This factor is once more being felt after the readjustment which has come about. An increase in values is foreshadowed for the end of the present year, which makes the present peculiarly propitious for the purchase of Canadian farm lands.

"This question was as natural as Seymour's own, but the manner in which it was asked put him on edge. And since Bart had appropriated his name along with his uniform, he could not answer truthfully without laying himself open to a further explanation than he proposed to make at that moment.

"As for that, where you?" he snapped back.

"I'm Deputy Coroner Sam Hardy," the speech was pompous; but he was the turning back of a coat lapel to exhibit a nickel-plated badge of office. "I'm also deputy sheriff and represent the law of British Columbia in Gold."

Seymour had suspected his interrogator's identity; was ready with his "Glad to meet you."

"And I've got authority to make you answer my questions," piped the deputy. "Where you from and what's your business?"

"From the Caribou country by way of the Old Sun trail," Seymour answered truthfully enough. "There's my outfit." He jerked his thumb over his shoulder toward the pack horse which stood with prospectors' equipment in broadside view. "That tells you what my business is."

"Be ready to prove it. What you know about this murder?"

The sergeant, who he knew just how the Dupuyer girl stood in this matter. Probably, for reasons of her own, she had gone on before any of the town party had arrived—possibly because she had heard them coming. If any of them had seen her, it seemed evident that she had not mentioned his participation in the discovery, or that he was beating the bush on the case. Yet, after all her seeming frankness and her keen personal interest in the victim, why had she "let out?" Since he could not answer that mental query, he decided on reticence in answering the deputy's spoken one.

"I don't know anything about it," he replied with no appreciable delay, although without accentuating the "don't," as he should have done in strict truth.

"Queer yes," should come ambling along with Seymour, but the Royal Mounted lying in the road and not yet cold," grumbled Hardy. "Yes, sir; it looks right, or rather, I think I'd better take you in on this case."

Seymour bent down on him with a most direct glance, the deputy's eyes almost black in their intensity—black as the ears of Kaw between which he was forcing his way to focus.

"And I think you'd better do nothing of the sort—on suspicion, I'm a Canadian citizen; I have and know my rights."

The sergeant, of course, was running.

FOR ROYAL GOOD HEALTH

Manitoba Woman Thanks Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Crandall, Manitoba. "When I was a young girl at home and working I had terrible pains, almost more than I could bear, and I was not getting any good. These troubles kept me so tired all the time that I had no strength and no ambition to join in with my friends and have a good time. I was just tired and miserable all day and life just seemed as if it wasn't worth living, and so much in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then I had a friend who had taken it and told me about it, so I got some. Every month after taking it I got stronger and I soon did not suffer every month. It stopped the pains and helped me other ways. Then when my husband was coming I was tired and worn out the first three months and ached badly. I took the Vegetable Compound right along and must say it made a new woman of me and able to do my work, and it helped me through confinement. You see I am a farmer's wife with a big house to look after, and three babies now. I have told over so many women about your medicine. Just last week I got a letter from my old claim in the East. My baby was born fifteen days before mine and she told me she was not feeling very well, her back ached so much that she said she was going to take the same medicine I took. You can see my letter and I hope some of them will be helped by it."—Mrs. Joe E. Kidd, Box 56, Crandall, Manitoba. O bing a sheer bluff. The provincial officer might have placed him under arrest; but to suffer detention was not in Seymour's program, for relief from it probably would require the disclosure of his identity at a time when he felt he could work more to advantage under cover. In the brief moment of their roadside controversy, he had "shed" his man and believed him one who would yield to a stronger will without other than ocular demonstration.

But he did not have time to prove his estimate of Hardy. Aid, or interference—whichever way one looked at it—came from an unexpected quarter.

"The stranger's right, Sam," spoke a handsome, blond-haired chap whose look of intelligence recommended him to Seymour as above average. "You haven't any call to arrest him just because he happened along a public trail at an unlucky moment. Far as that goes, you might better arrest yourself."

"What you driving at, Phil Brewster?" demanded Hardy, breaking away from the stranger's gaze and turning on his fellow townsman. "Are you hinting that I had any hand in sending West one of his majesty's officers?"

"Yes, was jealous of him," put in an old man with a twisted face, the driver of the oxen, if one could judge from the look upon which he leaned.

"And sore as a pup when you found he had been here a month without your consent," continued another townsman.

"Evidently," said Hardy, not surrounded by any picked posse and was none too much respected as the peace officer of the county.

"Believed to be out of the calcium, at least for the moment, Seymour swung from his horse and crossed the road to the real Seymour listening, came a move had he really been stranger to the tragedy."

"The deputy chose to ignore the jibes of his neighbors. But he renewed his demands upon Brewster for an introduction of his instantaneous retelling him he was no "bohunk freighter" to be talked to as an ox."

"But Sam was jealous, perked the eye kicked off the staff sergeant," the handsome chap began to explain. "To the real Seymour, interested, came a creepy feeling at the use of his name in such a connection. 'I was just using you as an example to show your hasty methods with this stranger,' Brewster went on. 'You were sitting in your saddle and staring down at the remains when I rode up from the creek. But I didn't suspect you of firing the shot or even of knowing anything about it.'"

Hardy looked somewhat mollified. "But Sam was jealous, perked the eye kicked off the staff sergeant," the handsome chap began to explain. "To the real Seymour, interested, came a creepy feeling at the use of his name in such a connection. 'I was just using you as an example to show your hasty methods with this stranger,' Brewster went on. 'You were sitting in your saddle and staring down at the remains when I rode up from the creek. But I didn't suspect you of firing the shot or even of knowing anything about it.'"

"More you'd know how to look," growled Cato, playfully reproving the deputy with one of his inordinately long arms.

"Want me to barh you up?" Hardy demanded, irritated; then went on with his explanation. "For reasons best known to himself, he had no confidence before or after uncovering himself. It wasn't good police-manship on my part, I'll say, but I'm big enough of a man—"

Cato's crackling laughter interrupted the big enough, "I'll say—but of a man," he burst out.

"Anyway, I figured I knew the breed of wolves up the creek better than he did and that he might need help. You know Sam Hardy's gun is always ready. So I added up old Lofer there and took out after him, prepared to lend a hand to law and order as was my sworn duty."

There was further exchange among the Goldites—theories regarding the new crime, gratuitous advice for the fat deputy, speculation regarding its effect on the outer reputation of the camp. Glad that interest had shifted from himself, Seymour listened absently.

Suddenly his attention was claimed by a decoration which had not been on the uniform when he had first scrutinized it. Into the breast opening of the serge coat was tucked a spray of snow flowers.

"Hush! hush!" his thoughts whispered. "And an ill-considered idea if she has any reason for not wanting her little wife to know that she first discovered the crime."

It was unlikely that the impostor had been anywhere near the place where he could pick flowers which Seymour knew to grow only in the deeper gulches where the packed snow of winter resisted the thaws of spring to the last.

The wearing of the nosegay was so out of keeping with the character that Bart had assumed as to attract attention. The sergeant wondered that the man, wearing behind him had not already noticed and questioned its presence.

Kneeling ostentatiously to the boot-lace, he rectified the girl's mistake by picking forth the flowers and tucking his into an inside pocket of his coat. The others, although approaching, evidently had not noticed this detraction. Ruth Dupuyer's confusion with the tragedy was her secret unless later she wished to take the camp into her confidence.

"It's a clutch that these two killings are linked," Hardy was shrilling to all ears within range. "When I got the man that killed the sergeant, I'll have the man that shot the B. C. driver, and vice versa, if I get the man that killed the stage driver, I'll have the one that shot the sergeant."

"Which one do you calculate to get first, Sam?" asked Brewster, straight-faced as an undertaker.

The pudgy deputy stared at him in momentary stupefaction, then took the bait. "Cato the Ox" must be executed a foot question like that, Phil, but I'd have thought you'd be wise to vice versa. Don't you see, man, that these murderers are one and the same?"

Then he advised you to throw down on that one and the same quick as the Almighty will let you," said Brewster. "The Mounties will be right to the cover the killing of one of their own; they'll swarm in here like flies as soon as the news gets out."

The mule camp's deputy corner was obviously disturbed by this logical counsel. Although the morning was not yet sunned out a saffron-colored handkerchief and mopped his brow. Evidently that ministrations were not what he took of his hat and polished his pate, which was disclosed to be as bald as an eagle's.

"Spite your astonishing ignorance in some things, Phil, you sometimes have a glimmer of sense," he said at last. "I've headed right in the first place. I've got to make some arrests and have the victims ready for the Mounties when they come swarming."

His eyes, while delivering himself of this pronouncement had fixed on the sergeant.

"Victims—'you said it," offered Seymour in calculating deference. "Some arrests, I suppose you'll make a bunch of them. Well, start in like me and bring in lots of company. You might as well make the mounted police plumb disgusted with you while you're about it. For a moment he watched Hardy squint under this obvious scorn, then added: "Isn't a coroner's inquest the first of orderly procedure in a case of this sort? If you get a verdict from a jury, you'll have something to stand on when—the Mounties come."

Hardy embraced the offering found in Seymour's sudden change from scorn to a practical suggestion. "I'll have an inquest with full due respect to the law, just as soon as we can get the late staff-sergeant into town," he shrilled.

"See that you stick around, stranger. There's no telling at who the court's jury, will point the finger of guilt."

Seymour nodded agreement. From official experience, he knew that there was no telling.

CHAPTER XVI.
The "Widely" in Gray

In the slipshod procedure of Deputy Sam Hardy the professional policeman had an illustration of why the force of which he was a member was needed to supplement some county peace officers of the Dominion. Although the fat official undoubtedly believed a commissioned officer of the mounted police had been murdered in cold blood while in the pursuit of duty, his handling of the case proved most perfunctory. There was no close study of the immediate surroundings; not even a beating of the bush to determine the point from which the fatal shot was fired.

The fact that the victim's revolver had been first one was noted, not by Hardy, but by the citizen addressed as Phil Brewster, who, it developed, operated a freight packing business between Gold and the creeks. Doubtless, the tragedy of the mounted police had been handled with similar carelessness, and this unlucky Bart Caswell given every opportunity to launch his daring impermanence.

About all that Hardy did was go through the pockets of the uniform while one of the crowd made a list of contents as they were produced and placed in a large handkerchief. There was a wallet meagerly supplied with small bills, a pocket knife, a ring of keys, and a hater pipe—not any of which were familiar to Seymour. But there was in addition a certified copy of his own commission as staff-sergeant of the R.C.M.P., which had been in the war bag, and a sheaf of official blank notes. These proceeds of the search were knotted within the handkerchief and deposited in Hardy's pocket, presumably to be handed over to the Mounties.

Soon, the waiting freight wagon was impressed into service as a rude car-falque. With the horsemen in procession formed behind, the cortege headed for the near-by camp. Its pace, at least, was funeral, thanks to oxen deliberation.

THANKFUL MOTHERS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little one she would use nothing else. The Tablets give relief to the mother who has nothing but words of praise and thankfulness for them. Among the thousands of mothers throughout Canada who praise the Tablets is Mrs. David A. I would urge every other mother to keep a box of the Tablets in the house."

The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach; drive out constipation and indigestion; give relief to colic and simple fevers and make teething easy. The Value Of "Publicity"

Retail Dealers Cannot Afford to Neglect Their Advertising

In a small town on the American Middle West—region where the "mail order" system of shopping has a tremendous vogue—a good story was recently told at the expense of the local storekeeper. When he came home one night his wife proudly showed him an unusual type of egg-beater she had just bought from one of the mail order firms. There appeared at once on his face a look of surprise, instead of the pleasure she had expected to find. She asked him what the trouble was.

"Well," he replied, "I've had half a dozen of these things in stock for a year, and I've been wondering how on earth I was ever going to get rid of them." The incident is being used in the press to illustrate the value of "publicity." If, it is argued, a retail trader keeps his stock of household appliances secret even in his own wife, how can he expect to find customers for them?—London Daily Mail.

BENEFIT FROM TANLAC LASTING, HE ASSERTS

Ontario Man Says It Put Him In Such Fine Condition Two Years Ago, He Hasn't Needed Any Medicine Since.

"Well, sir, it looked like I was going to have to give up my job, but Tanlac kept me on the payroll and, of course, I'm strong for it," is the striking statement of Wm. Cranker, 84 Louis St., Brockville, Ont., who for 30 years past has been employed by the Canadian National railroad.

"My stomach went wrong 10 years ago and then I gradually got out of step in lots of ways. I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good for nervousness and indigestion, and had got to where I simply had to drag myself to the railroad yards in the mornings.

"I could feel the good effects of my very first few doses of Tanlac clean to my fingertips. This was two years ago and three bottles put me in such good shape that I have not had to spend a cent for medicine since. I eat and sleep fine, never miss a day's work any more and feel fine. You just can't beat Tanlac."

"Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Payment of salaries in force prior to the strike this summer and restoration to official positions of about forty strikers, created a jubilant feeling among postal workers in Toronto.

Rumors are current of an early announcement of a Dominion domestic loan, possibly of $100,000,000, to meet maturing Victory bonds and to take up treasury bills. The interest rate will probably be 4½ per cent.

President Coolidge issued the order which retired General John J. Pershing from active service with the army, and at the same time extended to him "the thanks of the nation for his eminent services."

Arthur J. Davis, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, New York, in a statement issued, charges foreign liquor interests with having formed a conspiracy to influence the coming United States presidential election.

Nearly two hundred adult black bass were recently placed in Ministink Lake, in the Elk Island Park and Game Sanctuary near Edmonton, for the propagation and ultimate distribution of this game fish to other suitable lakes of Alberta.

The output of coal from Canadian mines in 1922, says a Government report just issued, was 16,990,571 short tons, as compared with 15,157,421 tons in 1921, an increase of 12 per cent. Alberta still leads the other provinces in coal production.

Special excursion rates to Eastern Canada, the Pacific coast and certain points in the United States, to prevail during the coming winter, where authorized, to correspond with those in effect last year, at a meeting of the Canadian Passenger Association western line.

Passing Of a Pioneer

Was a Famous Hunter and Trader of the Great Company
Alexis L'Esperance Tabouline, scion of French aristocracy, courreur du bois and follower of Louis Riel, passed away recently at Willow Bunch, Sask. Of this going of another notable of the thinning band who were eye-witnesses of Canada's wilder days, a Winnipeg friend of "Alex" says:

"He was a hunter and a trader of the Great Company—one of those who tracked out the paths later followed by the railways." He went to his rest on Sept. 5, having received the last rifle, at the age of 78. Without education, he possessed a mind of great intellectual capacity and a natural polish and refinement, as befitting a man descended from the best blood of old France.

"To speak more particularly of Alex would be to write a history of the principal events of Red River at that time. He, as others, traversed the plains to the Missouri, Idaho, the Rockies and the far north. He spoke the languages of all those Indian tribes. Too little credit is given to the Metis as a factor in preserving this land to the British crown—Free Press.

Rub It In for Lame Back—A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will relieve lame back. The oil will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the inflamed skin, the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that it is an excellent article.

Canada's Crop Prospects

Manitoba Crop Much Heavier Than Last Year
Canada's wheat crop this year is estimated to total 291,694,000 bushels, of which it is expected 267,177,000 bushels will be produced in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Manitoba's wheat crop is estimated at about eleven million bushels more than last year, but there is a falling off in Saskatchewan and Alberta, where last year's crops were the greatest on record.

It is expected that the increases in price which will be realized by farmers this year combined with the lesser cost of handling crops of moderate volume, will make the 1924 crop almost, if not quite, as profitable to the farmer as the record-breaking crop of 1923. In many individual cases this year's crop will actually be more profitable than last year's.

Let Hot Water Dissolve Your Corns

To quickly end sore, aching corns the surest remedy is the hot foot bath treatment and a few applications of Putnam's Extractor. Putnam's Extractor simply removes corns, foot blisters, calluses, etc., and leaves no mark or scar. Refuse a substitute for Putnam's. See at all druggists.

PUTNAM'S Corn Extractor

Profits From Wheat Pool
Alberta Wheat Pool officials claim that farmers who joined the co-operative marketing organization received $2,600,000 more for their 1923 crop than they would have netted through independent marketing methods. The pool actually handled 33,192,505 bushels of wheat during the first pool year.

REVIEW: OPENING PERIOD OF CHRIST'S MINISTRY

Golden Text: For God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life. John 3:16.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 53:1-12.

A Lesson from the Manger Birthplace. And there were shepherds in the same country abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night over their flock; and there came to them an angel, and said unto them, Fear not, for I have brought you good tidings of great joy which shall be to all the people: for there is born to you this day in the city of David a Saviour who is Christ the Lord."

The shepherds found the Babe lying in a manger, because there was no room in the inn. "How came it that the people of the inn had no room for Him except such as was found in the stable?" It was mere preoccupation. They were just too busy to have anything to do with that little plucking party which promised so poorly from the marginal point of view. Mary and Joseph were obviously lacking in riches, and could not be profitable guests; and then, too, the place was crowded. And so Christ was merely crowded out.

"And without any doubt it is just the very same today. I speak to you with a sorrowful consciousness that these words are actually true in some lives here. But I do not believe for a moment it is because you intend finally and ultimately to reject Jesus Christ. The simple fact of the matter is that you are just preoccupied. Every chamber of the soul is so filled with human interests that there is little room for Christ. There is little vital interest in Him. There is little, if any, time for Him. And this is so simply because your time is demanded by a thousand other things, your interest is drawn off in a thousand other directions, and your life is crowded to the full with possessions and pleasures which, strange though it seems, there is no room for the Savior except in the stable."

Frederick the Great of Prussia was governed in his military operations by patrolers, and always waited until they had indicated the "licky day" for a start.

A Mormon chapel is to be erected in Washington on one of the most conspicuous sites of the artificial sections of the capital. It is said the building will be of classic design and of considerable dimensions, in keeping with the fine buildings in the locality. The Mormons have long been anxious to obtain a footing in the United States capital.

Sporting Notes.

League baseball is apparently all done for, for this season. Evansburg finished first in the N.W. League, and evidently do not want to take a chance on playing Duffield for the Driscoll Cup. There were no definite arrangements made last spring about the play-off, so Evansburg don't have to play if they do not want to.

The final standing is—

	Won	Lost
Evansburg	12	6
Duffield	11	7
Stony Plain	9	9
Wabamun	4	14

The regular weekly basketball game between the Stony Plain girls and St. Matthew's team, on the 21st, resulted in a draw, 4 all.

Stony Plain and District.

Kelly's Dept. Store offers a brand new suit of G. W. G. Overalls ~~xxx~~ to the farmer marketing, after this date, the first load of this year's No. 1 wheat to any of the Stony Plain elevators. Grain check must be furnished.

Rev R Shippinowski, who had been in charge of the Lutheran Church (Misowri Synod) at Spruce Grove for some time, yesterday moved to Edmonton, where he will take charge of the English Missions of his church there. Mrs Shippinowski accompanied her husband.

Mr Ph Litzemberger has purchased a new threshing rig from Mike Ducholke—a 15-30 McCormick tractor and a 32x48 separator.

Threshing in this district is now becoming general, with a few of the late farmers still cutting their grain.

Mr Olaf Ohlsen, a popular farmer of the Mewassin district, will be buying grain this season for the Midland Grain Co. at Duffield.

Mr Wm Leckelt, of Leduc, will be buying grain at Carvel for the Midland Grain Co. this fall.

The Home Elevator Co. has started the construction of its elevator at Duffield, a short distance east of the station. The material started to arrive last week in a very quiet manner, and everybody was taken by surprise.

The price of grain is still staying up, with the very good prospect of about the same prices obtaining for some time yet.

Among those elevators that will handle wheat for the Wheat Pool this season are: Gillespie's, Federal, U. G. G., Midland, A.P. and Home.

The drive is on among the local farmers and members of the U. F. A. to get signers to the Wheat Pool contracts.

The new Dominion Gov't terminal elevator just completed at Edmonton is now receiving grain, having taken in the first two carloads last week.

A sale will be held at Ingat M. D. Pound, Div. 1, on the NW 27 51 1w5, at 1 p.m. on Tuesday Sept. 30, by Louie Willie, poundkeeper, of two stallions, about 2 years old, no brand.

Season for prairie chickens, partridge opens Wednesday next, Oct. 1, and is for that month only.

Owing to the muddy roads and the rain storm, the dance at Holborn Hall Friday night was not as well patronised as usual.

Readers will kindly note the season for crows' feet and gopher tails closed Sept. 1st. Sun readers will note that this is the open season for firewood—blocks or split—if any delinquent wishes to pay that way.

A shaft is being sunk near Gainford to a seven-foot coal seam. The mine will be in operation this winter.

Tires and tubes vulcanised and repaired at Stony Plain Garage.

Help us make a bigger and better Sun each week by phoning or sending in any local news item. We print Wednesday afternoon.

Dental Announcement!

Dr W Scott Hamilton, Dental Surgeon, of Edmonton, wishes to announce that from Oct. 2d on he will be in Stony Plain the Thursday of every week. In this way he can better serve his local patients.

He further wishes to announce that he is permanently located in Edmonton; that he plans to make these visits to Stony Plain continuous; and that he can at any time be reached by phone at his established location, 400 Tegner Block, Edmonton, phone 6514, or at his home phone of 82117.

On Saturday Night

A very daring robbery took place in Stony Plain Saturday night, when some party or parties unknown invaded the premises at the rear of The Sun office and purloined the Editor's ax; a good print-shop broom and garden rake nearby were left untouched. Why the ax was taken and the others left untouched will always remain a mystery. An examination of the footprints left indicated a No. 9 tan shoe, with heel run down and binder twine for shoe strings. Anyone wearing this shoe and carrying an ax will no doubt attract attention.

Pay on Vancouver Basis

For the first time since the Western route via Vancouver became operative for Alberta wheat shipments, farmers are to receive this season a price based on the Vancouver basis, instead of the Fort William basis, which latter has been the basis of payment for years. The Wheat Pool officials have announced that the initial payment this year will be $1 a bushel on the Vancouver basis, which means that the farmers will gain the advantage of the lesser freight charge.

The Coming By-Election

The coming contest in the City of Edmonton for the seat in the Legislature made vacant by the appointment to a judgeship of Hon J R Boyle, should prove a very interesting affair.

A F Ewing, former leader of the Conservatives in the Legislature, has been nominated.

W T Henry, former mayor of Edmonton, is in the field for the Liberals.

Mr Bartholomew has been nominated by the Laborites. Edmonton U. F. A. Local will hold a meeting next Saturday to decide whether they will put up a candidate to contest the seat.

The election is billed for Monday Oct. 27.
